Speake-Marin

After qualifying as a watchmaker in his native England, Peter Speake-Marin honed his skills restoring fine antique timepieces. He then moved to Switzerland to augment his watchmaking education at the world-renowned WOSTEP School in Neuchâtel. That led to a position developing complications at Renaud & Papi and in his spare time he designed and crafted his first watch: a tourbillon pocket watch. In 2000 Peter established his own atelier in the picturesque lakeside village of Rolle (between Geneva and Lausanne) where he designs and develops wristwatches of timeless quality.
